One Life Stand

How you doin' cowboy? Won't you ask a lady to dance?
I was sittin' in the bar just drinking my beer; not looking for romance
Her big brown eyes just smiled at me as she led me by the hand
When I woke up beside her, she was my first one night stand
I woke up beside her, she was my first one night stand

That night turned into many, like a date that never ends
We started one-night lovers and became for ever friends
Walking down the aisle, dressed all in white her daddy held her hand
She vowed right then, til death do us part, I'd be her only man
To have and to hold, til death do us part, I was her only man

30 years had come and gone and I never thought to stray
So many pretty girls in the world but I slept with her every day
Our babies grew up and their babies are now spread across the land
When I looked back on all those years, I had a one wife stand
Looking back on all those years, she was my one wife stand

(Interlude)

Her big brown eyes are closed now and we all said good-bye today
I'll join her again when my time comes and that won't be far away
I'll miss her every second but I'm still a lucky man
From the night we met to the day she died, she was my one life stand.
… … … … she was my one life stand.
